DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on July 26, 2007 has been entered.

Preliminary Remarks

2. This Office action responds to the amendment and arguments filed by applicant on July 26, 2007 in reply to the previous Office action on the merits, mailed February 28, 2007.

3. The amendment of claim 1 by applicant in the reply filed on July 26, 2007 is hereby acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in-

(1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effect under this subsection of a national application published under section 122(b) only if the international application designating the United States was published under Article 21(2)(a) of such treaty in the English language; or

(2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that a patent shall not be deemed filed in the United States for the purposes of this subsection based on the filing of an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a).

5. Claims 1 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by McMahon (US 5,956,658).

McMahon discloses a system for collecting information relating to equipment located at a site, the system comprising: a first database including legacy data relating to at least a portion of the equipment; a server including software for importing the legacy data into a specified data structure and for exporting the specified data structure and a survey process comprising a plurality of steps required to complete the survey of the site; and, a mobile survey device for receiving the specified data structure, the survey process, and the legacy data prior to performing a survey and for displaying the survey process to guide a user in collecting the information to complete the survey of the site; wherein the specified data structure includes a set of equipment categories and a set of attributes relating to each category.

Regarding claim 6, the survey device of McMahon is further configured to communicate the information collected to the server.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 1 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Scribner et al. (US 4,688,026), in view of Manzi et al. (US 6,298,333).

Scribner et al. disclose a system for collecting information relating to equipment located at a site, the system comprising: loading equipment data into a server (see step 212) and a collection device (108; see column 6, lines 35-40) and operating the collection device (mobile device; 108) to display the survey process comprising a plurality of steps to guide the user in collecting the information to complete a survey of a plurality of equipment assets located at the site and create a site equipment database. It is noted that the system of Scribner et al. identifies the equipment (see, for example, Figure 3, "1982 Drexel Couch"), but Scribner et al. fail to explicitly disclose that the specified data includes a set of equipment categories and a set of attributes relating to each category.

However, Manzi et al. teach the use of recording for each item of equipment comprising an equipment category (see Abstract).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of the invention, to have modified the system of Scribner et al. so as to provide for equipment categories, in accordance with the teachings of Manzi et al., in order to allow the organization to better track equipment for accounting purposes (depreciation, taxes, etc.), by recording equipment category information associated with the equipment.

Regarding claim 6, the survey device 108 of Scribner et al. is further configured to communicate the information collected to the server 212.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments filed July 26, 2007 have been fully considered but they are not deemed persuasive.

9. Regarding the argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., information collected includes arrangement or location of assets; survey process includes more than just a list of machines to be surveyed; survey steps cannot be reordered; etcetera) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

10. Regarding the arguments against the references individually (i.e., that the claims are not anticipated by either of the individual references), one cannot show nonobviousness by attacking references individually where the rejections are based on combinations of references. See In re

Keller, 642 F.2d 413, 208 USPQ 871 (CCPA 1981); In re Merck & Co., 800 F.2d 1091, 231 USPQ 375 (Fed. Cir. 1986).

Conclusion

11. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to the disclosure.
12. All rejected claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the application prior to the entry of the submission under 37 CFR 1.114 and could have been finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the next Office action if they had been entered in the application prior to entry under 37 CFR 1.114. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL even though it is a first action after the filing of a request for continued examination and the submission under 37 CFR 1.114. See MPEP § 706.07(b). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

13. Any inquiry concerning this communication, or earlier communications, should be directed to the examiner, Jerry O'Connor, whose telephone number is (571) 272-6787, and whose facsimile number is (571) 273-6787.
